

250 TAYLOR

PORTLAND

VICINITY

SITE LOCATION

Portland goes by many different names: Stumptown, Bridge City, City of Roses, Little Beirut, and Rip City. It's a city known for its active public realm that also celebrates compelling connections to nature. It has the largest urban forest in the United States (Forest Park). Multimodal transportation is prioritized. City blocks are uniquely sized at 200' x 200', which makes them more pedestrian friendly. The organization of the city grid according to quadrants helps newcomers easily find their way.

